Homeowners to Get Training

A much-needed service will be offered under a program announced in this issue by the Northern Chyenne Housing Authority.

People will be taught simple repairs, as well as general upkeep for new houses they have either moved into already, or will be moving into. A total of 150 homes have been built, and about another 40 have been approved for construction this year.

Housing Authority officials long have recognized the problems of people moving into new homes without knowing how to maintain or repair the appliances, water, electrical and gas systems that go with the houses.

Through funds recently approved, an educational program will be launched this summer.

Road Crews Open Coal Seam

Overburden has been removed from the coal mine soon to be opened by the Northern Chyenne Tribe.

Located up Muddy Creek, the mine will enable the tribe to produce coal for reservation use, cutting costs on both food and transportation. Previously, the tribe has bought the coal from Decker Coal Co., and hauled it some 40 miles.

To get the job done faster, needs department crews of the Bureau of Indian Affairs were assigned to remove dirt overburden. They are now turning their attention to road priority jobs.

Attention All Future Streakers!

Reservation law states that any person who indecently exposes themselves publicly, or immorally shall be deemed guilty of an offense and any conviction thereof shall be sentenced to labor for a period not to exceed 90 days and or a fine of not more than $100 (Chapter V, Sec. 1). Any person who acts in a streaked (indecent exposure) shall be liable to a complaint against anyone who publicly and indecently exposes their body.

In Appreciation

I wish to extend heartfelt thanks to the many friends and relatives who helped with money, clothes and other aid, following the fire March 11 which completely destroyed my house and possessions. Many donations came in from throughout Big Horn County. I cannot thank all your names, but I want you all to know how much I appreciated this help in time of need.

Work Habits Get Attention

Attention must be given to better communications are cited as major areas needing attention by Leroy Pine Sr., new counselor at Indian Affairs. He works as liaison between IAT students, instructors, management and the public.

Pine explains his Boy Scout March 26, when Boy Scout to take a job in Washington, D.C. A fifth year legal intern, Pine has his own law practice on the reservation. He is studying for a Bachelor of Science degree from Lakota Extension University.

Previously, Pine worked with the Northern Chyenne Community Action Program, which has been an Alcoholics Anonymous board member and counselor for the past two years.

In working with IAT students, the counselor says he finds most problems are alcohol-related.

In addition to working with students to improve work habits, Pine also recruits elementary and high school dropouts for vocational training. Training is given in at IAT in carpentry, plumbing, electrical work, heavy equipment operation, welding and mechanics.

High Winds Rips Up Forest, Damage Trailers

High winds last week damaged trailer houses, campers and trees in Northern Chippewa forests. A camper belonging to Jack Gross was tipped upsidedown on a hillside at the foot of the Lame Deer divide on the Ashland side; windows were broken in it.

A trailer in which Wayne Little Whiteman and family live on Rosbud creek was blown off its foundations. Indian Action Team workers put it back on its foundation and re-connected water lines.

Winds up to 100 miles an hour swept the high ridges where Public Works Impact Project men were fencing, making it too dangerous for them to remain in the forest on Monday. Huge trees were toppled across reservation roads, and the tops snapped off hundreds of others in long-impacted areas.

Indian Action Team workers spent several days clearing roads, following the high winds.
